JULY FOURTH

Two Independence Day stand out in my memory. One was in a year of the dim eighties when cannon crackers first came into use, and we blew up soap boxes and blasted vast mounds of mud with unforgettable delight. The other was in 1918 in the bitterest days of the war, when British and Americans united in Westminster Hall, across from the Abbey, to celebrate their separation one hundred and forty-two years before.

After the meeting, which was enough in itself to make the day memorable, there was a baseball game between the army and the navy. One of the London newspapers hired an American to report the game, a circumstance that had frightful effects upon its readers, who understood just nothing after the first two sentences. I remember also an excited sailor who shouted at the box where King George was sitting: "Say, King, them fellows never saw a baseball until they got into the army!"

But it was not the baseball game that made the day memorable for me. I was an unfortunate victim of circumstance, having been invited, in default of a better witness, to speak for the American universities at the great celebration. What I said is of no importance for this article, which is indeed my first opportunity to comment upon what one of the other speakers said in a speech that deserves to be called to mind on this later Independence Day when so many of the great moments of the war and so many of the lessons we thought we had learned for good during the war are growing dim.

With one or two exceptions it was an illustrious company of speakers. Viscount Bryce was one of them; Admiral Sims was another; General Biddle was another. The last speaker was Mr. Winston Churchill who now is Secretary of State for the Colonies. Like many others I have often differed with Mr. Churchill's politics and have sometimes regretted the results of his impetuous earnestness while I admired the spirit of it. In his virtues and in his defects he has often reminded me of our own Roosevelt. But for what he said on that day I had only respect and cordial agreement, as did the rest of his three thousand listeners, and most of all, I thought, the bands of blue-and-brown-clad wounded in the front rows.

I shall not repeat or even summarize his speech. The chief point that he made was a simple one and was notable as coming from a man who believed in pushing the war to its bitter end. The Germans, he said, need not fear the ruthlessness of conquest. We, their enemies, were men and had the passion for revenge that other men shared; but, English and Americans alike, we were bound by the principle that underlies the American Declaration of Independence; we were committed to the principle that one self-governing nation cannot ruthlessly dominate another by force. However imperfectly that principle might work out in practice, it was the way in which Americans and Britishers thought of government; and in the long run we were bound to apply it to a conquered nation, because it was our habit.

I believe the principle to be true, and the Germans believed it to be true. A month later I saw a copy of a German newspaper just taken from a German prisoner; in it that part of Mr. Churchill's speech was printed in full and without comment. Furthermore, in spite of the many complexities of the peace treaty and the "grabbing" that has gone on since the armistice, we have acted according to our habit; the right of Germany to be a self-governing nation has never been questioned.

Habits are curious things. When they once get established whether in government or in manners or in washing your face before breakfast, they go on like a perpetual-motion machine and apparently take care of themselves. And then if there is no new push, no will from behind, they run down like a machine, the motion of which was not perpetual after all.

If I were delivering one of those old-fashioned Fourth of July orations that followed the reading of the Declaration of Independence, I should not speak so long as the old-time orators used to speak. I should forego the spread-eagle rhetoric—all the talk about the greatness of our country and the undying fame of our Revolutionary ancestors, all the flattery that was intended to make every boy sitting on the benches in the picnic park feel that merely by sitting there he had become the greatest patriot in the world. Instead I should ask whether my audience really thought that winning the Revolutionary War with the help of France was the only thing to be remembered on the day we celebrate. I should try my best to make them feel that men both in America and in England were fighting then, some with guns and some with arguments, to enforce the principle that a country belongs, not to rulers or to special groups, but to its people. We made this country independent in the course of a struggle that gave us a great inheritance; we also enforced the principle of independence from tyranny, which since those days has been at least respected and in general recognized in all civilized countries.

In America it has become a habit to assume that the voters rule the country; and the laws say that they do rule it. It has become a habit to suppose that in international affairs we shall respect the rights of other countries to govern themselves. And on Independence Day we celebrate our spiritual ancestors and forget that all they left us was a habit of mind.

You, the new generation, ought to be warned that it is time to be thinking what you are going to do to keep your own principle of independence. If it is only a habit, it may run down any day. I do not mean that England is likely to try again to conquer the United States; what I do mean is that as the richest and most powerful nation in the world we are sure to be in greater and greater danger of bossing other nations; and that more and more individuals and groups of Americans will want to boss us.

Your fathers had the habit of supposing that America would always be self-governing and so dropped out of politics in order to earn money. The result is that most of our cities are run-by bosses who are just as much despots in their easy fashion as were the princes of the old European states. If you get the habit, and nothing else, of supposing that because your ancestors made a country that could preserve its own freedom and respect the freedom of others, therefore the United States will continue to be an honest nation without your help, then you are making the same mistake the Romans made; they were certain that the Roman Empire would continue to be all-powerful because it had been all-powerful for so long.

I believe that Mr. Churchill was right in 1918 when he said that England and America were bound by their past to respect the political rights of a conquered people. But will some other Winston Churchill be able to speak so confidently, let us say, in 1938? As far as America is concerned the answer depends upon the new generation; it depends on what you then think about your own rights, on how much you are willing to stand up for them, and on how much you respect the rights of other peoples.

The United States was a child until the Civil War, and a youth until the Great War. Now suddenly it has grown up. A boy is under his father's influence; a girl is under her mother's influence; and usually the boy and the girl do what their parents did before them. But once grown up, they can no longer be sure of being honest, courageous, happy or miserable, merely because their parents were any or all of those things before them; they have to make their own way. So it is with us. Every Fourth of July from now on indefinitely we shall need a new Declaration of Independence from those who wish to boss us and independence from the temptation to boss others. And the next signers must come from the new generations.

An American traveler in England nowadays encounters everywhere signs of the Americanization of Great Britain. The advertising in the newspapers and magazines is becoming American in its methods; the cheaper automobiles either are American machines or imitate American machines; the newer buildings in London are American in architecture. Those influences are already at work. It was not without reason that John Drinkwater's English play of Abraham Lincoln had its great success in London; nor is it merely politics that made Lloyd George quote American history so frequently in the Irish dispute.

England has become aware that our natural experience is a valuable lesson for her. The two countries have progressed in so much the same way that, by comparing them, you can see where each has gained and each has lost. Now that Ireland is made independent on a dominion basis, it is not improbable that before long Great Britain may borrow our Federal system, and England, Wales and Scotland, be given legislatures and set up as states like Kansas or New York.

On our part it seems to many of us that we Americans can borrow from the British the determined independence that was once so strong with us as it now is with them. For our independence has weakened. We do not stand up for our rights as we used to do; we knuckle under to public opinion or to the newspapers, or we knuckle under out of sheer laziness. On days like Independence Day we need to do a little thinking on what independence means and on how to keep it. In fact it would not be a bad idea to read the Declaration of Independence and then to translate it, everyone for himself, into what it ought to mean for the world of 1922. Some of it is out of date, but more is not. I strongly suspected on that Fourth of July, 1918, that many Americans in the audience were only vaguely aware of what those principles of independence were that the Englishman, Winston Churchill, described so confidently.—Canby in Youth's Companion in 1922.

Childhood Deafness

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

It is distressing to know how widespread deafness in children really is. One of the most hopeless of all ailments is steadily progressing deafness. When once it begins, the trouble goes on and on, gradually growing worse.

A little over a year ago the Bureau of Education of the United States Department of the Interior made a report on this subject. It gave the unpleasant news that more than 3,000,000 children in the United States have impaired hearing. This is a serious matter.

Probably the most common cause of deafness is catarrh. The common cold may develop into catarrh. The inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat extends up the passageways to the middle ear. This produces what is called "middle ear deafness."

There are other causes for deafness besides catarrh. Some persons have a tendency to over-secretion of the wax glands of the ear canal. Then the wax may accumulate in this canal and it must be removed by a doctor. This form of impaired hearing is sometimes called "external ear deafness."

There is still another kind of deafness—"internal ear deafness." The nerve of hearing is called the "auditory nerve." This nerve ends in delicate fibers which float about in a fluid found in the cavities of the bone. Except where perfect health is present, these structures may not operate as they should.

The deaf child labors under many difficulties. His deafness cannot but effect his disposition. Many a deaf child becomes retiring and morose. He cannot hear his teacher or what the class is saying. His contact with other children is difficult. He does not progress in his school work. He lags in his classes and gets discouraged.

When the slightest trace of deafness is detected in a child, let the family doctor find out what is wrong with him physically.

In some schools, classes in lip reading for permanently deaf children have been started. This is really constructive work, and should be encouraged. For thousands of children, this will mean social and economic advantage. Later in life, lip-reading will enable the deaf person to compete in the business and professional world in making a living, as it now does in gaining an education.—Washington Herald.

Members of the American Otological Society say that the noises of city life are increasing deafness. Blessed are the deaf, for they shall have peace.—Boston Transcript.

TORONTO TIDINGS

On June 17th and 18th, the young scholars, in charge of various teachers, came marching home from Belleville, happy in the freedom of school closing, and making their parents and other relatives, whom they had not seen for months, doubly joyful.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLaren, of Long Branch, were at our service on June 15th, and afterwards met many of their friends. On account of distance they have to cover in coming here and their advanced age, it is not very often that we see this venerable couple.

Mr. Charles L. McLaughlin left in his own car on a long trip down to Nova Scotia, on June 19th, on a month's holiday to his parental home and scenes of his youth. We wish for him a pleasant trip, happy sojourn in the land of Evangeline and a safe return.

A carload of our friends, made up of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Forrester, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Doyle and William Hazlitt, motored up to Gravenhurst on June 15th, to give Mrs. William Hazlitt another cheery visit, and all were so glad to find her improving very nicely.

Mr. H. W. Roberts spoke on "How Mindful is the Lord of You," at our service on June 15th. Mrs. Henry Whealy gave the beautiful and inspiring hymn "A Thousand Harps and Voices Sing," in all her matchless beauty of expression.

To stabilize greater interest in our weekly services, platform convenor Roberts has enlisted the services of additional hymn reciters in single, duet, and quartette formation, as well as cantata style, also additional Sunday School teachers and outside deaf and hearing speakers twice a month. Mr. Roberts feels very thankful to all who have cheerfully consented to help to garner in His ever increasing harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. LaRue, late of Cleveland, O., are now living in this city, the former having secured work here. Mr. LaRue, who is a war veteran, though not deaf, can speak in our language very fluently as he is a son of deaf parents, but Mrs. LaRue is deaf like ourselves and a very pleasant and unassuming lady. Both are frequently at our church.

Mr. J. R. Byrne, who went down to Belleville to conduct the mission there on June 15th, reports a very large and encouraging gathering, with an attendance of over thirty-five, many coming from outside points such as Brighton, Trenton, Picton, Napanee and surrounding country. Our Ontario mission is now coming along under wonderful growth.

Miss Isabel Sherritt, of Corbetton, was down to this city, during the forepart of the week of June 16th, to visit relatives and meet her sister, Susie, on her return from the Belleville school, and accompany her home. While here Isabel went over to Niagara Falls on a visit to other relatives, and gave Miss Helen A. Middleton a pleasant call.

Mrs. W. W. Scott returned home on June 14th, after spending a couple of weeks visiting her relatives and friends in Wellandport, St. Catharines, Welland and Niagara Falls, where she had a delightful time. Her hubby, Billy, is again at his favorite pastime of canoeing on the waters of Toronto Bay.

The following are scheduled to go and address meetings at our Ontario Missions during July: A. H. Jaffray to Aurora, H. E. Grooms to Cookstown, Mrs. A. Waggoner to St. Catharines, J. A. Braithwaite to Chatham, A. H. Cowan to Woodstock, all on the 6th. W. R. Watt, to Oshawa on the 13th, N. Gleadow to Brantford, Walter Bell to Bewdley, A. Forrester to Dunnville, and one to Kingston, on the 20th. W. R. Watt to Hamilton, A. H. Cowan to Kitchener, H. W. Roberts to Sarnia, Charles Elliott to St. Williams, all on the 27th.

Mr. Fraser Byrne, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Byrne, was quietly married on June 14th, to his cousin, Miss Margaret Byrne, of Hogarth Avenue, in this city. A fuller account of the nuptial event, will appear in your next issue.

On June 20th, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Harris invited a good number of the deaf to a pleasant reception given in honor of the latter's deaf brother, Mr. Charles Golds, Jr., and his bride from Vancouver, B. C., who had just arrived from the coast on the quiet, hence their presence then was a great surprise to everyone who met them that everyone else. Towards the close of a very social day. The bridal couple remained here until June 23d, when they went up to Mr. Golds' parental home in Kitchener, where they equally surprised the home folks and everyone else. Towards the close of a very social day. The bridal couple remained here until June 23d, when they went up to Mr. Golds' parental home in Kitchener, where they equally surprised the home folks and everyone else.

Mr. Charles Golds, Jr., who went to Vancouver, B. C., eight years ago, and made the grade, was happily united in marriage at the Lutheran Church in that city, on June 14th, to Miss Edith Maude Ards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ards, of Vancouver. The Rev. Mr. Meyers performed the nuptial knot, assisted by Rev. Mr. Gaertner, of Seattle, Wash., as interpreter. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for an extended wedding trip down east, visiting relatives and friends in Toronto, Kitchener, Niagara Falls and other points in Ontario.

The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Golds, Sr., of Kitchener, Ont., and a graduate of the Belleville school, while the bride, a lovely young and sociable lady, is a former student of the Vancouver, B. C., school for the deaf. Mr. Golds went to the coast city eight years ago with the intention of settling there if prospects warranted, and as time wore on good luck followed him through all these years. The newlyweds will make their future home in Vancouver, where our best wishes follow for a long and happy married life.

Miss Margaret Bradshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bradshaw, of Santa Barbara, Cal., is now visiting relatives and friends in this city. She has just been on an extended visit to Buffalo, New York City, Hamilton and other points down this way. More news from California will appear in your next issue.

Just as these items leave for the press, the members of the Bridget Literary Society and many others also leave on the picnic excursion of the above society to Oshawa. A full account of the outing will appear in print here next issue.

WATERLOO WEE RITS

While in Brantford on June 15th, Mr. J. A. Moynihan was very much pleased to meet Mr. James Goodbrand for the first time, and as both are very much interested in poultry raising, they enjoyed each other's company highly.

We occasionally hear from Mrs. Jas. Braven, who is now in Montreal living with her married daughter, Mrs. Peters. She has met a few of the Montreal deaf.

Just as the Meyers and Mr. John A. Moynihan were on the verge of leaving for Toronto to attend a Catholic service over the week-end of June 15th, word came that the services were discontinued, so the trio, with Mrs. Moynihan added to the bunch, struck the trail for Brantford, and spent the day most pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sutton.

The lovely Ford car that conveyed the bunch down to the "Telephone City," is the property of our young Gordon Meyers, who is getting accustomed to driving it.

While at the Suttons in Brantford another car turned up, driven by Mr. Albert Siess, of Pontiac, Mich., and carrying Mr. and Mrs. Newton Black, of Kitchener, and Mrs. Ida Cherry Robertson, of Preston, all of whom went down to attend the service at the Y. M. C. A., conducted by Mr. Colin McLean, of Toronto. All returned home safely the same evening.

On his way home to Pontiac, Mich., after his sojourn here, Mr. Albert Siess stopped over night, on June 16th, with the Wark family in Wyoming and continued his homeward trip in the morning.

There should be a large turnout at our service in Kitchener on July 27th, when Mr. H. A. Cowan, of London, will be the speaker. As he is a very good speaker, there is sure to be a treat in store for all who come.

BOBCAYGEON BRIEFS

Mrs. Stanley B. Wright was up in Toronto for a couple of days, at the time of the big Shriner convention, and had a time making her way through the masses.

Mr. Harry Nasmith, eldest son of the late Mr. J. D. Nasmith, of Toronto, once a beloved pioneer among the deaf, was in this burg recently with his two boys, Douglas and Malcolm, getting out their canoe, which was left with the Wright family. Mr. H. Nasmith owns a cottage just on the opposite side of Pigeon Lake, and have been fitting it up for summer occupation.

While Mr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Wright and family were peacefully snoring away in the arms of Morpheus in the early hours of Sunday morning of June 15th, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Preston, motored down from Peterboro and quietly sneaking in, squeezed into a single bed and drowsed off to dreamland. What a stir confronted their parents in the morning, when the invaders marched into the dining room to share their breakfast with the rest of the bewildered family, as though they had just dropped from the heavens.

Mrs. Stanley Wright was delighted to receive a nice visit from a couple of cousins from Buffalo over a recent week-end, and in the meantime the Wrights took them up north amid the beautiful and rugged scenes of Haliburton, made famous in fish stories and game hunting. At that time the Wrights had a houseful of fifteen merry souls.

The new and palatial yacht "Thelissa," owned by C. O. Stillman, the New York magnate, passed through the locks here on June 19th, en route for New York City via Toronto.

BORDER BREEZES

We are pleased to mention that Mr. Edward Ball, of Detroit, who has been troubled with neuritis in his right arm for some time past, is now gradually getting rid of it.

We are sorry to hear that our good old friend, Mr. Henry Gottlieb, of Detroit, is at present not in as good condition as his legion of friends would like to see him. A weak heart is what affects him, but all hope the rosy side will be his again.

Mr. John Baker has returned to his old home in Toronto, owing to the disrupted state of employment in Detroit, where thousands are roaming the streets seeking work.

The Canadian deaf throughout this locality are delighted to hear that their old friend, Mr. George W. Reeves, of Toronto, is now taking up the good work of addressing mission meetings in Ontario, and it is a safe bet that when he comes this way he'll receive as warm a welcome as any old timer ever received.

On June 8th, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Braithwaite, of Windsor, invited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ball and Mrs. Cas. Sadows, of Detroit, to accompany them in their car to Chatham to take in the Fisher meeting, and not only did they all enjoy Mr. Fisher's most interesting sermon, but also enjoyed the trip and met many old schoolmates and friends. The party called on Mrs. Braithwaite's brother, whose wife was quite ill at the time. After the service they were invited to tea at an aunt's of Mrs. Braithwaite. All got back in good spirits.

Mr. Leon Charbonneau, of Riverside, was over in Detroit recently transacting some business. Almost every week the Charbonneaus have hosts of their friends visiting them from far and near. Their intelligent daughter, Theresa, always helps her parents entertain.

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS

Upon the mountain, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miles on June 14th, a very amusing and unique event transpired that is still the talk of the town. Knowing that Mr. William Thomas Hacking, one of our popular young men, was soon to leave for Ottawa and claim Miss Jean Garvin as a bride on July 5th, a goodly number of his friends, with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Waggoner leading the parade, foregathered at the above named home, where a mock wedding with all its attending results took place, amid the greatest hilarity and laughing provocations. The bride, whose name was Miss Mary Ann Georgina Margaret, (Mrs. Thomas Brown), a blushing brunette from Cabbagetown, and the groom, Ebenezer, Thomas John McMurphy, (Mrs. Walter Miles), whose love for "Ole Ireland" was greater than for the bride, stood up to take a lesson on the sobriety of matrimonial behaviour with the "Reverend" Patrick Simple Simon, M.A., D.D., (Walter Miles), admonishing the lecture. The bride looked very charming and carried a beautiful bouquet of carrots and rhubarb and sweet smelling onions. The groom looked natty in a King Edward outfit and a real silk topper to boot.

GENERAL GLEANINGS

The Ontario Government has erected a large and beautiful tablet at our Belleville school, in memory of and commemorating the good service rendered to the school by the late Superintendent Dr. T. B. Coughlin.

Miss Florence Davis, of Simcoe, in sending in her renewal for the JOURNAL, speaks in glowing terms of the great benefit she accrues from reading its weekly news. Miss Davis is doing fine and is an accomplished young maiden.

There is an outbreak of chicken pox at the Belleville school and as a result, nearly a score of the pupils were unable to accompany the home-going batches on the closing days, their cases being too severe to permit their leaving. However, as it is of a mild type, those detained will be going home in a very short time.

Miss Helen A. Middleton, of Niagara Falls, enjoyed the week-end of June 14th with Miss Sylvia Caswell in Stamford, and the two had all the fresh strawberries they could possibly eat, plus a merry time.

Miss Edith Squires, of Petrolia, was a guest of her chum, Miss Jean Wark, near Wyoming, over the week-end of June 14th, and accompanied the Wark family to Sarnia that Sunday to attend the Cowan meeting, which was a very good gathering.

Some time ago, Mr. John Taylor, of Singhamton, joined a large party of men in a bear hunt, and now he reports having killed a good-sized porcupine on the road near his village.

We learn that our old schoolmate, Mr. John A. Isbister, late of Lakefield, Ont., is now a patient in a mental institution at New Westminster, B. C. We regret to hear of his afflicted condition.

A Small Boy's Essay on Editors and Doctors

A small boy in a nearby town was asked by his teacher to write an essay on "Editors."

Here's the essay in detail, and we publish with apologies to the medical profession:—

"I don't know how newspapers come to be in this world. I don't think God does, for He hain't got nothing to say about them and editors in the Bible.

"I think the editors is one of the missing links you read of, and stayed in the bushes until after the flood, and then came has been here ever since. I don't think he ever died. I never heard of one getting killed.

"Our paper is a mighty good one, but the editor goes without underclothes all winter and don't wear any socks and paw ain't paid his subscription since the paper started. I ast paw if that was why the editor had to suck the juice out of snowballs in winter and go to bed when he had a shirt washt in summer. And then paw took me into the wood shed and he lickt me awful hard.

"If the editor makes mistakes folk say that he ought to be hung, but it a doctor makes a mistake he buries them and people dassent say nothing because doctors can read and write Latin. When the editor makes a mistake there is a lawsuit and swearing and a big fuss, but if a doctor makes a mistake there is a funeral, cut flowers and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a yard long without him or anybody knowing what it means; but if the editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges for the visit, but if the editor goes he gets a charge of buckshot.

"When the doctor gets drunk it's a case of being overcome by heat and if he dies its from heart trouble; when a editor gets drunk it's a case of too much booze and if he dies it's the jim-jams. Any old college can make a doctor, an editor has to be born."—Exchange.

ON TO BUFFALO

It is only four weeks until the deaf meet in convention, under the auspices of the National Association of the Deaf, at Buffalo, N. Y.

The Local Committee has been working long and diligently to prepare for the entertainment of the vast horde of deaf visitors who will gather on August 4th and remain a week.

The great consideration of many will be the unveiling of the statue of Abbe Charles Michel de l'Epee, who founded the system of education in France upon which the education of the American deaf is based. From Sicard, De l'Epee's successor, Gallaudet got the method of instruction and the assistance that enabled him to found the first school at Hartford, Ct., and incidentally released the cruelly neglected deaf-mutes from the shackles of ignorance that had fettered them until the momentous day of April, 1817. The erection of this statue will be an acknowledgment of the great obligation, not a cancellation of the indebtedness of deaf-mutes to De l'Epee—time can never cancel what they owe.

To attend the great convention at Buffalo, it will be necessary to make arrangements without delay. Read the instructions, prices and plans for routes of travel—at Chicago, James F. Meagher; at St. Louis, William H. Schaub; at New York, Marcus L. Kenner. They form the committee on travel, and the offer is full is fare going to Buffalo and half fare returning, provided certificates to the number of 150, are produced and vided by the railroad agents at Buffalo. Therefore, be sure to ask for a certificate when purchasing your ticket, when going to Buffalo.

When Virginia Butler Gallaudet died the deaf of New York and vicinity became bereft of a true friend, who like her father had scattered cheerfulness and love to those deaf whom misfortune had pursued and help to those who needed it. In the work of the Church Mission and the Home for the Aged, which her father had founded, she gave much thought and unremitting attention. In fact, she carried a load of responsibility without complaint, like a true Gallaudet. Now that she has gone, her sister, Miss Elizabeth Gallaudet, will carry forward the line of work which death had stilled.

To show the scope of helpfulness and the spirit in which her service was given, a notice from the Surrogate's Court giving notice that Miss V. B. Gallaudet's last will and testament had been offered for probate, revealed that a legacy has been bequeathed to: Mrs. Ernest B. Beattie, Mrs. Harry A. Gillen, Eleanor E. Sherman, Richard G. Sherman, Elsie Gallaudet, Bern Budd, Ruth Virginia Kent, as individuals; and to the following organizations: The Women's Parish Aid Society, The Decimal Chapter, The V. B. G. Association, The Men's Parish Club, The Building Fund, all of St. Ann's Church; also the Gallaudet Home, the Altar Chapter of the Church of St. Matthew and St. Timothy, the Girls' Friendly Society, and Cedar Hill Cemetery of Hartford.

MARYLAND

STATE SCHOOL FOR DEAF HAS SUCCESSFUL REUNION

Persons from fifteen states, the District of Columbia, and Canada attended the tenth quadrennial reunion of the Maryland State School for the Deaf graduates and former pupils at Frederick, June 13th to Monday the 16th. The registration reached a total of 470, the largest number that ever attended a reunion at the school, and over a hundred more than attended the last reunion, four years ago.

A reception in the new school gymnasium, attended by 250 graduates, former pupils and visitors, from 8 to 10 o'clock Friday night, marked the opening of the reunion.

The main body of the alumni and visitors began to arrive Friday morning and afternoon, and by evening the registration reached the 200 mark. The reception given by Prof. Ignatius Bjorlee, superintendent and principal of the school, Mrs. Bjorlee and the members of the Faculty, after which the assemblage was welcomed, in an address by Prof. Bjorlee, on behalf of the school. Mr. McC. Mathias extended a welcome on behalf of the Board of Visitors, of which John K. Shaw, Baltimore, is president, and George Faupel, president of the Alumni Association, spoke as a representative of that body. Responses were made by John A. Trundle, Centerville; Henry O. Nicol, Washington; Mrs. William S. Tyre, Salisbury; and George M. Leitner, Baltimore.

A handsome bronze tablet in memory of the late Dr. Charles W. Ely, principal of the Maryland school for forty-two years, will be given by the Alumni Association of the Maryland School and will be hung in the school with appropriate ceremonies on May 10th, 1931, it was announced Saturday morning, following the meeting of the Alumni Association at the school. The meeting was part of the program of activities at the reunion and was also featured by an election of officers.

New officers are as follows: President, H. O. Nicol, Washington; first vice-president, Abe Omanski, Baltimore; second vice-president, Mrs. August Wriede, Baltimore; secretary, George Faupel, Frederick; treasurer, O. K. Price, Baltimore. Trustees elected are: Harry Benson, and Uriah Shockley, Frederick; and Rozelle McCall, Baltimore.

Regarding the bronze tablet, it was announced that the association wished to honor the memory of the late Dr. Ely by presenting the memorial, the sculptor to be decided later.

The tablet will be a handsome one and will have on it a profile of Dr. Ely.

A baseball game between the benefactors and bachelors took place at 11 o'clock, following the association meeting, on the new athletic field, and was won by the bachelors, 9 to 4. In the afternoon the visitors enjoyed an outing to Braddock Heights. An assembly was held at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night in the chapel, at which time C. E. Moylan, attorney of Baltimore, spoke, the address being interpreted for the deaf by Prof. Bjorlee. Silent motion pictures followed.

One of the features Sunday morning was an interdenominational service in the chapel which was largely attended. (Rev. D. E. Moylan, a Methodist minister of Baltimore and a former graduate of the school, and Rev. A. D. Bryant, a Baptist minister, Washington, made addresses in the sign-language. Rev. Douglass Hooft, rector of All Saint's Episcopal Church, delivered an address, which was interpreted in the sign-language by Prof. Ignatius Bjorlee. Following the service, a Cogswell chair was presented by his former pupils to Prof. Edward P. Gale, for forty-two years a member of the Faculty, recently retired. Orlando K. Price, Baltimore, made the presentation address in the sign-language, with response also by Mr. Gale.

A group photograph of those attending the reunion was taken on the front lawn at 11 o'clock. In the group were eighteen persons who attended the school from 1868 to 1872, while classes were held in the old Barracks originally used for Revolutionary War prisoners. Seven of the eighteen, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Trundle, Centerville; Mrs. Elizabeth Landenslager, Mrs. Agnes Reed, and James A. Mooney, Baltimore; Miss Grace Webster, Torresdale, Pa.; and James Amoss, Washington, attended the opening of the school in the old barracks in 1868.

During the afternoon a pilgrimage was made to the grave in Mt. Olivet Cemetery of the late Dr. Charles W. Ely, where services were held in his memory, Rev. Moylan being in charge. Later impromptu class reunions were held on the campus and points of interest about the city visited. The reunion officially closed with breakfast Monday morning.

The following resolutions were prepared by the committee, composed of Mrs. G. M. Leitner, Chairman; Mrs. O. K. Price; Mr. Byron Zimmerman, and read after the chapel services:—

Resolved, That we, the graduates and former pupils of the Maryland State School for the Deaf, assembled here for the reunion, express our satisfaction with the administration of the institution under the leadership of Supt. Ignatius Bjorlee and his most capable staff, and vote our appreciation of the improvements and additions that have been made since our last assembly.

Resolved, That we congratulate the school on its continued progress in sending out into the world each year graduates better trained and educated than those who preceded them, as a result of improved methods, better equipment and a thorough understanding of the deaf child's problems.

Resolved, That we tender the Board of Visitors and the Superintendent our sincere thanks for making this reunion possible through providing a means for the renewal of old friendships among our scattered members.

Resolved, That we tender our thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Faupel, Miss Gonso, Mrs. Redmond, Miss McCann, Miss Markey, Miss McAndrew, Miss Kent, Mr. McVernon and their associates, for their labors in trying to make our visit pleasant, comfortable and profitable, also to make their reunion in general a success.

Resolved, That we regret the departure from active service on the Faculty of Prof. E. P. Gale after forty-one years of untiring and faithful service, during which many of us in our youth have come under his good influence and guidance within the class room, but we are happy that he is able now to obtain a long deserved rest from labors and that we still will have the opportunity to meet with him at these gatherings and elsewhere.

Resolved, That our thanks be extended to the News-Post of Frederick for the sympathetic and accurate coverage of this reunion and for the space devoted to it.

Resolved, That our thanks be given also to Mr. Decker of the Opera House, and Mr. Fisher, of the Maryland, for the motion picture films they provided for our entertainment, and to Mr. Klein for giving his services as operator of the projection at the showing of the films.

Gallaudet College Alumni Association

NOTICE

For various reasons our Board of Directors has deemed it inadvisable to hold the meeting of our Association scheduled for August 10, 1930, in Buffalo, N. Y. This meeting has been ordered canceled and the Association will meet at a time and place to be announced in the near future.

HENRY J. PULVER, Secretary.
Millersburg, Pa., June 26, 1930.

CHICAGO

"The Grand Old Frat" and his lady were duly honored on Midsummer's Night—with a belated celebration of their thirtieth (pearl) wedding anniversary.

The "Grand Old Frat," in case you are unaware, is Washington Barrow, certificate number 8—the first non-Michigan member of the original signers of the charter.

Forty-four friends and relatives attended and contributed a purse of twenty-six dollars, following a mock re-marriage which saw Mrs. Alice LaMotte—a witness at their wedding—acting in the role of bridesmaid. "From naughty-naughty to flirty thirty—still 'one'—was the inscription on the testimonial. Jimmie Meagher served as "minister," pretending the date was April 23, 1900," and outlining historic events to come.

Following the "re-marriage," six tables of "500" for four prizes held sway until a late hour.

Several other private parties were held that night. The young orologists met at the home of a former teacher, Mrs. Smith, who honored two former Parker schoolists—Fred Tell just graduating from Armour Tech with high honors, and Martha Miller who graduated from a hearing high school.

Mrs. Joe Wondra and Mrs. Zoe Tell got up a birthday dinner for Mrs. Teddy Banks—twenty guests. Mrs. Arthur Meehan gave a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Tom Gray; twenty guests; "500" and "cootie."

Sanford Robey Burns, football coach of the Illinois State School for the Deaf, was in town on the 11th, bringing news that a Chicago boy is one of the best prospects for greatness at Gallaudet that he ever saw. The wonder-kid is George Walnoha, aged 18, 180-lbs., a halfback at football, center at basketball, pitcher at baseball, and a whale with the weights on the track. "Walnoha," says Burns, "is certain to pass the Gallaudet College examinations when he graduates from Jacksonville next summer, for he is smart, real smart—even if he is a southpaw pitcher. Our only Chicago graduates this year were two crack athletes, Frank Guzzardo and George Perry. Superintendent Dan Cloud certainly made good this year, and our school is improving wonderfully. We had two trackmen in the state meet—Orris Franklin, who did the half-mile in 2:03, and George Grady, who does 23:05 for the 220-yard dash. That was the first time any deaf had ever got a medal in a University of Illinois scholastic meet. You Chicagoans ought to come down November 1st for the 'Homecoming Game' with the Kansas school—they haven't got a Ringle any more. And don't forget to come down for the Central States Basketball Championship Tournament March 18th to 21st."

Chicago welcomes with open arms the latest addition to its list of distinguished denizens—one Byron B. Burnes, editor of the South Dakota Advocate. This lean, lanky mental-marshal will be remembered as the star visitor-helper of the Denver convention, drawing the program cover, etc. He is spending the summer here studying art, residing with his aunt in Oak Park, a suburb.

Harlow Rotherth again broke the National Intercollegiate record in the 16-lb. shot-put here, June 7th, heaving the ball 51 feet, 1 1/4 inches. He won the eastern intercollegiate title a week previously—the Boston meet where he holds the world's collegiate record of 52:1 5-8. In addition to this, he was renowned as the crack halfback of Leland Stanford University (the magnificent institution in Palo Alto which delegates to the San Francisco N. A. D. convention of 1915 visited.) He has been captain of the basketball team for two seasons also. Rotherth, son of deaf parents who formerly resided in Iowa, is a personal friend of Herbert Hoover, Jr., and was on the last American team to the world Olympiad.

Alfred Melchert, owner of a sedan which struck and injured Pat O'Brien in getting off a street car, settled the damage claim to cover doubly the loss of his wages of one week, other expenses and also attorney's fee.

Miss Anna Koch, ex-'30, gave a party for the younger element June 14th, in honor of several Gallaudettes passing through town. Viola Servold, '34, Gladys Rockney, ex-'31, and Leonard Lau, '30, were some of the dignitaries from other points.

This Leonard Lau was circulation manager of the student publication, The Buff and Blue, which ended the collegiate year with a splendid senior number, dedicated to Prof. Harley D. Drake—in recognition of his labors for the Edward Miner Gallaudet Memorial Fund. None of the 1930 graduating class hail from the great state of Illinois.

Newlyweds who spent their honeymoon here early in June, were Michael A. Harter and the form Miss Margaret Iacono, of Minneapolis, Minn. They were guests of the Hal Keesals.

Timothy Sullivan's daughter, Helen, died in Berwyn, June 15th, aged twenty-eight years. She worked hard to support herself and aged father, but her sudden death will leave him in straits, as he is lame.

Friday the 13th had no terrors for the Pas-a-Pas Club, when Mrs. Gus Hyman gave an appreciated lecture there on that date. She is matron of the Home for Aged Deaf.

The Lutherans held their last of the season's monthly socials on the 14th.

The O. W. L. S. held their quarterly meeting at the M. E. Church on June 21st. Mrs. P. Hasenstab returned after spending one week at Lake Delavan, Wis., last week, to attend the meeting. She will go back.

Interest runs high in the Meagher-Hinch "special" to the N. A. D. convention in Buffalo, next August. Despite the hard times, at least fifty Chicagoans say they will make the trip.

"DEAF" BEGGAR RUNS
Milwaukee, June 13—Detective John Carnell was handed one of the cards being distributed by two men. The cards read: "Please help us; we are deaf and dumb." Carnell suggested.

"We ought to throw them in for vagrants," At the words, one of the men dashed away. Carnell grabbed the other.

"What's your name?" he asked.

"Can't you talk a little louder, I'm a bit hard of hearing," was the reply.

"I thought you were dumb," said Carnell.

"That's the other fellow, who ran away. I'm the deaf one," was the explanation.—Associated Press.

Mrs. Gus Hyman gave a "500" party at the Pas-a-Pas clubrooms June 20th, for benefit of the Home. There were twenty-one tables.

Mrs. Walter Whitson and son are spending two weeks at the Fredo Hyman cottage on Cedar Lake, Ind. So are Mrs. Marie Leavitt and her children from Peoria.

Mrs. James Gibney, who went last April to Texas, to stay at her son's home, returned last week after stopping at Mrs. Louise Rutherford Mickenham's home in Kansas for one week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Zollinger with his sister and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sharpnack, enjoyed a delightful ride to Glen Ellyn, Ill., in an automobile driven by Charles' brother Saturday, June 21st, and returned home after a visit of some hours.

WISCONSIN NOTES

Many improvements have been made at the Wisconsin State School for the Deaf this summer. The superintendent's dining room has had beams added to the ceiling and has been finished in Spanish style. The teachers' dining room has also had beams placed in the ceiling and has been redecorated. New roofs have been placed on the girls' dormitory and part of the administration building.

The driveway is being widened and the stone pillars which were built many years ago by Alex Miller are being torn down.

The iron fence enclosing the front of the campus was at one time around the capitol grounds at Madison. It replaced a wooden picket fence.

The State School for the Deaf for Wisconsin is an accredited school and many young people who have graduated have been accepted at Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., the only college for the deaf in the world. Only those who pass the entrance examinations may be enrolled as students there.

In a recent report from President Percival Hall, all but two of the Class of 1930 were rated high enough to receive scholarships.

Robert W. Horgen, of Irma; Marvin Rood, of Madison; Marian Schauer, of Summit Lake; Raymond Steger, of Milwaukee; and Curtis Redelings, of Porterfield, have passed the entrance examinations and are advised to enter this fall.

The Delavan Silent Club held their annual picnic at the Springs Sunday afternoon. A number from out of town were present. Delavan defeated the Milwaukee Club baseball team in two games, 10 to 2, and 15 to 5.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Arthur, of Tulsa, Okla., are guests of Supt. and Mrs. T. E. Bray this week. They will also visit relatives at Delavan, Wis. The trip was made there by automobile in two days, at Fort Atkinson.

Miss Ethelwyn Hammond, of Kansas City, Mo., is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. T. Seymour, at Delavan, Wis. Miss Hammond was formerly a member of the State school faculty there.

Wallace Bray, who has been attending the Northwestern Medical School at Evanston, Ill., is spending the summer vacation at the home of his parents, Supt. and Mrs. T. Emery Bray.

Miss Anna May Lange, of Delavan, Wis., passed through Chicago on her way to St. Louis Sunday, to attend summer school for teachers of the deaf.

Mrs. Laura Crosby, a teacher at the Wisconsin deaf school, and her daughter left Chicago Monday after one day's stay for Denver, Col., for one month's vacation.

New Jersey

Mr. Emlen D. Sutton was married to Mary Emma Allen, both of Atlantic City, N. J., on June 12th, at the bride's home. Miss Grace Allen, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid, and Mr. William Miles, son of Mrs. Lucy Luke, was best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gaumont, a hearing minister. Mr. Miles was interpreter for the couple. Mr. Sutton had already rented a house before they were married. The couple are now at Ventnor, Atlantic City, N. J. The marriage was a great surprise to everybody. Both were pupils at Trenton, N. J. school. Mr. and Mrs. Sutton have the best wishes of all their friends for a happy life.

OHIO

News items for this column can be sent to B. M. Edgar, 56 Latta Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

The Cincinnati Frats have made extensive preparations to entertain Fradom at the State convention from July 3d to July 6th. They have planned a reception for July 3d, which is open to all who wish to meet their friends. July 4th will open with a meeting for everybody, but the business meetings are for members only. The guests will be entertained at the Welfare Center. There is to be a trip to the zoo, and Grand President Neesam is to deliver an address. Frats from other states will be welcome to attend. For the big "smoker" and initiation, visitors will be requested to show their due cards.

The Cincinnati deaf are good entertainers and a grand good time is predicted.

Mr. Conrad Zorbaugh, aged ninety-one, passed to the Great Beyond at the Home for Aged Deaf, Sunday, June 22d. Mr. Zorbaugh had been a resident at the home for several years, coming soon after his wife's death in Iowa, where Mr. Zorbaugh had been a teacher in the Iowa school for thirty-five years, although he was educated in the Ohio school. The funeral was held at the Home June 24th, and the remains taken for burial at Fairfield, Ia., beside his wife.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. F. C. Smielau, and several from Columbus attended, among them Mr. A. B. Greener, an old friend of the deceased. Dr. J. W. Jones also attended the services and took a floral offering from the school.

Mr. Zorbaugh is survived by four children, Rev. Charles Zorbaugh, Grace Zorbaugh, who has lately been elected associate dean of women at the Ohio State University, Mrs. E. L. Walbridge, of Los Angeles, and Frank Zorbaugh, of Omaha, Neb. For the last few years of his residence at the Ohio Home, he had been an invalid due to his age, and about two weeks ago, he fell and fractured his hip.

According to a public statement by Mr. Kreigh B. Ayers, Akron, president of the Ohio Deaf Alumni Association, twenty-four persons have been considered for the new position of Commissioner of the Deaf, but as yet no one has been selected. Some were really capable, but not interested, some were not qualified for the work; others had poor rating as educators or did not have the requirements of a thorough college training as to come up to the Ohio standard of educational work. Three names are yet before the committee. It seems, indeed, hard to find the right person for the place.

Mr. Ayers and his executive committee have given much time and thought to the matter.

Mr. Carl N. Ohlemacher, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ohlemacher, was united in marriage to a Miss Anna Hadley, June 19th. The couple, after a motor trip east, will reside at the home of the bride's parents in Columbus for a time.

Word reached Columbus late last week that Miss Carrie Lingle was in an unconscious condition in a Springfield hospital from a stroke of paralysis. Just June 15th, she was in Columbus calling on friends. Some who met her remarked that she was not looking very well then. At last reports she had not regained consciousness.

Miss Edwina Wolley, daughter of Mr. Hannah Ranz Wolley, of Cincinnati, graduated from the Withrow High School this month and will enter college in the fall.

The Adult Welfare Center is now in better condition than ever, and its management through Mrs. George Williams extends an invitation to all who attend the Frats' convention in Cincinnati to make use of this center. She has donated the buildings and grounds for the exclusive use of the deaf for July 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pickle, of Akron, lost their little fifteen-months-old daughter, June 2d. The child had been ill since April 6th, and underwent an operation as a last resort to save her life, but death came immediately after the operation. She suffered from influenza and pneumonia and her lungs were badly abscessed. Burial was made at Ellet, O.

Mrs. Theodore Goeltz (Mary Jones), Sandusky, has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jones, of Akron. The family came to Ohio from Georgia many years ago, and have had three daughters in the Ohio school, all of whom have been good students. Mrs. Goeltz is their eldest daughter and was married soon after her graduation to "Teddy" Goeltz, one of her classmates.

The Akron Frats will picnic July 13th, at Lake Brady Park, Kenton, said to be a fine place for outings. The committee in charge is Mr. D. Williams, G. Murphy and W. Pfunder. Mr. Charles Brown, who has been employed at the Goodyear plant in Akron since giving up his position as boys' supervisor at the Ohio school some years ago, took his mother on a pleasure trip to Chicago and made a stop over in Toledo to meet his deaf friends there.

Mr. Earl Wildermuth was requested to remain at his home in McClure one day, and he thought some one was coming to purchase some of his fine oil paintings. But a party of friends arrived with baskets to remind him of his birthday. A fine dinner was enjoyed. Mr. Wildermuth has a fine garden and his home is surrounded by a well-kept lawn. His wife is much interested in his art work.

When the Columbus Branch of the N. A. D. met June 13th at the school, Mr. Kreigh B. Ayers was present and gave one of his stirring addresses.

When school closed June 12th, a number of the boys remained for a time to help with the work. Of course, their pay is what tempted them to linger on longer, as they know they couldn't get work at home.

The Ohio school will reopen September 8th, the same date as most of the public schools.

He Knows His Baseball

MULCAHY CAN'T TALK BUT, OH, HOW HE CAN USE HIS HANDS

Umpiring for twenty years and he never "called" a man out.

That's "Dummy" Jim Mulcahy's record, and it's sequel to the oft-told boast of Bill Klem, famous major league umpire, who claims that he never "missed" a play in his life.

The only difference is that Mulcahy's boast is true. Deaf and dumb since he was four years old, "Dummy Jim" hasn't let the handicap keep him from becoming known as one of the best and most sought-after arbiters in New York.

His hands "tell" the story of each player's fate, be he safe or be he out, and he carries a whistle that shrills "play ball" at the start of every half inning.

He's erect, sun-browned, and with a grip in his handshakes that makes you think of a man with a deep, booming voice. Maybe it's because he can't hear the players let off steam when they've been given the thumb over the shoulder on a close play, that he's so imperturbable.

But Jim Mulcahy knows his baseball, and there are very few who can tell him anything about the game. It has been a profession with him, first, last and always.

AND HE COULD PLAY

"Dummy Jim" was quite a third baseman in his day, and his work with Elmira in the New York-Penn League and with Albany in the Eastern League gave the newspaper boys a chance to draw parallels to the cases of Dummy Hoy, who made good as an outfielder in the majors, and Dummy Taylor, the famous Giant pitcher.

Later he played with the Cuban All-stars, being the only Irishman so honored. At the time Mulcahy was doing his third-basing for the good seniors, who do you suppose was pitching? None other than Adolfo Luque, with Mike Gonzales as his battery mate.

Playing with Danbury in the New York and New Jersey League in 1913, Jim showed that the stories of his exceptional speed on the bases weren't exaggerated by stealing second, third and home on three successive pitched balls.

Jim has seen baseball from another angle too, he has been ground keeper of several model parks in the minor leagues, the picturesque and well-groomed field at Binghamton, N. Y., reflecting especially, strongly to his credit.

NOT EASY TO INTERVIEW

Interviewing Dummy Jim isn't as easy a task as an inquiring reporter might choose. He keeps a little blue pad and a row of pencils in a handy pocket, but writer's cramps sets in before you get the whole story. That's where Jim shines, for he keeps on writing and supplies the missing links himself.

"I work in about one hundred games every year," he scrawls. "At Huntington, L. I., for heavy semi-pro teams on Sundays and holidays, and at Dexter Park every Wednesday. Some school teams in between, too. And the Parade Grounds, too. Almost always there."

Then a big smile lit his face, and he scribbled earnestly. "Coach Jack Gallagher, of St. John's High, promised me some work on basketball next year. I can do it." Then he went through the motions of whistling and calling fouls for blocking, hacking and so on, doing almost the same as the ice hockey referees who "call" the plays without saying a word. But even the hockey men could take lessons from Jim Mulcahy's home-made contortions.

A glance at the clock, a pretended bunt with an imaginary bat and the scribbled words "

A few words of information in a letter or postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

FANWOOD ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OUTING

"What is so rare as a day in June," and also what more beautiful scenery is there sailing up the Hudson on Saturday, June 28th, by the members of the Fanwood Alumni Association and friends on the "De Witt Clinton" steamer of the Day Line to Indian Point.

The day could not have been better. 'Twas lovely. The merry crowd, about a hundred silents, members of the Alumni and friends, and over a thousand and more hearing folks bound for the same location.

The party which landed at Indian Point included the silent group, and as soon as landed they scattered in all directions, some to find shaded places to spread their lunch, others who brought no lunch, to the dining room and the cafeteria.

About an hour or so later, near the dancing pavilion, near the river, President William H. Rose, who had previously arranged for the games, announced there would be a treasure hunt, and parties were arranged in pairs.

The hunt was a spirited one, and the pair that were lucky turned out to be Mr. Walter Kadel and Miss Catherine O'Brien.

Then there was a ball throwing contest for both sexes. Miss Congetta Fernando, who was the first of the fair sex, won by several feet.

Like the young lass, so it was for young Alexander Ovary to beat all competitors, not by mere feet, but yards.

Some indulged in dancing, by radio music, some inspected the vast place, which is an ideal spot, and kept very neat by the management of the Day Line, which owns the place.

The lake, which is a mile from the landing and affords boating, drew many thither and they enjoyed themselves on that smooth water on flat boats.

The greatest thrill of all was the speedy motor boats on the river proper, and many tried these, and thrilled they really felt at the great speed they glided on the river.

'Twas a very pleasant outing, which the Fanwood Alumni Association inaugurated several years ago, and have made it an annual custom, and this one this year was indeed one of the pleasantest.

Several who had to work till noon came on a later boat.

The prizes for the games were this year, as in former years, donated by Mr. Archibald McL. Baxter, a zealous worker in the interest of the Association. He also this time acted as judge of the games, and entertained at "500" in going and returning on the boat.

Among the out-of-towners we noticed Mr. and Mrs. Benedict and son, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kadel and son, of Port Jervis; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cox, of Port Washington, L. I., and others.

BON VOYAGE PARTY

On June 18th, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Auerbach tendered a farewell surprise dinner party to Mr. John Maier, who is sailing for Europe Saturday evening, July 5th, on the Europa.

Mr. Maier was lured to the Auerbach residence by Miss Williams, on the pretext that she received a phone message from Mr. Landau, saying he was in trouble and wanted to see Mr. Maier at once.

Upon arriving at the Auerbach domicile, he was met with smiling faces and a table set with a bounteous feast.

After dinner more friends trooped in to wish Mr. Maier Godspeed on his journey.

The Auerbach menage presented Mr. Maier with a beautiful set of military brushes and comb in a handsome leather case.

Among those present, besides the host and hostess and their children, Bertram, Sylvia and Leon, were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McLaren, Mrs. J. Landau, Mrs. Hanneman, Mrs. Blumenthal and children, Mr. Klein, Mr. and Mrs. B. Stillman, Mr. John Maier and Miss G. Williams. Ice-cream and cake were served the guests before the party ended. Mr. Maier expects to be gone two months.

After an operation for appendicitis, John Gerhard Lange died on Sunday, June 22d, 1930, in his forty-first year. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 27th, 1889.

Rev. Arthur Boll, of the Lutheran Guild for the Deaf, officiated at the chapel service and burial. There was a large attendance and numerous beautiful floral tributes.

John Lange was well-known among the deaf, being a member of the Brooklyn Guild, Lutheran Guild, Fanwood Alumni Association, graduating with the class of 1909, and was a social member of the Brooklyn Fraternal Society, No. 23.

He leaves his mother, two sisters, Mrs. Charles Durling and Gertrude, and one brother, Gerald. His father died last October.

Interment was in the family plot at Evergreen Cemetery.

On Tuesday evening, June 24th, Mr. Charles Harmon, one of New York's expert pocket-billiard cueists, was the attraction in the billiard room of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League. Opposed against him were six of the best players of the League. To each he gave ten-point handicaps in a block of fifteen. Except one, Arnold A. Cohen who scored five, all the others were only able to make one and some none at all.

After the game Mr. Harmon gave an exhibition of fancy shots and trick play that seemed wonderful to the on-lookers, but to all appearance easy to him. He has made it a study and now enables him to make a living at it by giving exhibitions in various billiard parlors.

On Sunday evening, June 22d, Mr. Samuel Frankenheim was visiting a friend's house, and then there became ill, so the family physician of his friend was called in, who administered a remedy to lessen his suffering. The next day, Monday, he became worse, so has was brought to the Mount Sinai Hospital, and after a careful examination about blood pressure and heart-beat, etc., on Wednesday, June 25th, was operated for appendicitis. At this writing it is said that the operation was a success, and his recovery will be rapid.

A number of friends gathered on Wednesday evening, June 25th, at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Kent, to meet Mr. and Mrs. Dean Tomlinson, of Winnipeg, Canada, who are in New York for a while before going to Manomet, Mass., for the summer. Mrs. Tomlinson, sister of Mrs. Kent, was Louise Turner at Fanwood, and she had a delightful time with her former schoolmates, whom she had not met for quite a long time. Those present included Messrs. and Mesdames Barry, Loew, Rappolt, Stern, Renner, E. P. Clarke, Kohn, L. Cohen, Funk, Mrs. Sonneborn, of California, Mrs. Liebertz, Miss Hall, Messrs. Pach, Kane, Carpenter and Elsworth.

Miss Catherine Doren and Miss Eva Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kornblum, of Boston, Mass., on Sunday, June 29th, took advantage of the reduced excursion fare, and spent the day in New York, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Max Miller. They left on a late train for home, and a party of New Yorkers saw them off at the Forty-second Street, New York Central Station, among whom was Jack Ebin.

Mr. John F. O'Brien was tendered a surprise birthday celebration by a number of his old schoolday friends on Sunday, June 28th. It was an elaborate affair and was managed by Mrs. O'Brien, ably assisted by Miss Mae Austra, which bespeaks a perfectly managed affair. The surprise was most complete and pleasing, and best of all, found "Johnny" in perfect health and full of pep for business and all good works, for which he is noted.

On learning that the De l'Epee Memorial was still short of funds, the Semper Fideles Club (Class of '13 of Lexington school), is giving a "500" and whist party on Wednesday evening, July 16th, at the Boulevard Pastry Shop, 1063 Southern Boulevard, Bronx, the proceeds to go to the fund.

On the 19th of June the stock delivered a baby girl, weighing 8 1/4 pounds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Borowick. They have named it Dorothy. They also have another girl, born to them four years ago. What wonder if Uncle Joe, now in Chicago, feels elated at the great honor.

The Evening World of the 26th of June contained a brief history of the Bay Ridge High School, of which Miss Kate E. Turner is principal, and had a very fine likeness of this talented woman, who ranks very high as an educator. She is the sister of Mrs. Kent and Mrs. Tomlinson.

Mrs. Benjamin Brandtstein and baby have returned to town, because hubby has to undergo a minor operation, but in a few days more the whole family will go back to Woodridge, N. Y., to spend a needed vacation together.

The sad news was conveyed on Saturday that Mr. Charles Fetscher was a sick man—from a slight cold, pneumonia resulted. His friends hope that he will, as he has done before in many undertakings, pull through and conquer the malady.

Morris Fleischer is going to make a trip to Buffalo and thence to the Thousand Islands by auto. He will be accompanied by Abe Wirshberg and probably another companion. They will start Friday morning, July 4th, and expect to be back early on Monday morning, July 7th.

Mrs. Harry P. Kane will leave California around the middle of July, and join Mrs. Dorothy Capps at Chicago. Both intend to take in the Buffalo, N. A. D. convention.

A post-card from Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Lewis locates them in Burlington, Vt., whither they had motored through the White Mountains.

It is authentically reported that Ten Eyck Litchfield is very low with an incurable malady.

The Louis Hagens have gone to Rockaway for the summer.

Samuel M. Cocks, decorator and painter, of 40 South Washington Street, Port Washington, L. I., has completed the repainting of the Village Welfare House, and it is a most creditable job. Mr. Cocks is well known in the painting business, with many years of experience.—Ex.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Lux started off for Akron, Ohio, in their Willys-Knight on June 30th, to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobsen, where they expect to spend the month of July, bathing and boating.

The Hoffman family, Max, Vera, and Anna, are at Rye, N. Y., for the summer season.

On Sunday, June 22d, Miss Vera Hoffman was formally betrothed to Mr. Leo Berzon.

Douglas W. Caulkins, whose home was at 163 Warburton Avenue, Yonkers, was drowned at Pomudridge, N. Y., on Monday, June 16th, 1930.

At the recent card party of the Fanwood Alumni Association, held at St. Ann's Guild room, the winner at whist was Miss Mae Austra, who received a beautiful lady's hand bag.

Miss Elizabeth Gallaudet will spend the summer months in England, with a short tour in Europe.

ST. LOUIS

Are you planning to go to the N. A. D., at Buffalo, if so, inquire of Mr. William H. Schaub, 1019 Hamilton Avenue, St. Louis, in regards to the best way to go to Buffalo. Mr. Schaub is considered a good railroad man.

Mr. William H. Schaub and his family have about put everything in good shape at their new home at 1019 Hamilton Avenue, and they are ready to entertain their friends.

The Ladies' Guild Society of the Thomas Mission have had their outing at O'Fallon Park, June 28th. A good crowd turned out to patronize the counters. They made a good harvest.

Mrs. Sam Stack moved to 3219 N. 19th Street, and her lady friend gave her a surprise social affair. Each lady brought something for the table. The monthly social affair of the Silent Bercans came off June 27th, managed by Mr. and Mrs. August Bremer. There were several new games, so it was hard for them to win a prize.

After the games all were treated to Dixies and cakes. There was more than the average monthly attendance.

Rev. Barclay Meador, the Silent Bercans-teacher, spent a week in the north lakes. He returned in time for the class, well refreshed as he needed a good rest.

Rev. Barclay Meador and Mrs. Otellia A. Schneider, the interpreter, had a surprise affair at the church, by all those who were present standing up and clapping their hands before the lessons began in response to their appreciation for what they have done for them in the past.

The father of Wesley M. Bennett has been laid up with pneumonia. It is understood he has passed the crisis and is on the way to recovery.

Mrs. Annie Johnston, the only living sister of William Stafford, in her eighty-third year, was run over by a Ford. At present she is on the way to recovery in spite of her advanced age. She expects to be home soon.

The Lutherans have their preaching by Rev. Charles Schubkegel, at Grace Church, corner of Garrison and St. Louis Avenue, every second and fourth Sunday in the month. He would be glad to see all those of the Lutheran faith.

St. Thomas Mission (Episcopal) had its annual boat ride with the Episcopal Church on the 26th. It is said that a good crowd of the deaf took advantage of the cut rates. Tickets twenty-five cents from Rev. A. O. Steidemann, fifty cents at the boat. All had a good time, arriving at 6 p.m., in time for the night crowd to have their outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Beck, of Afton, Mo., have a very nice garden, well laden with all kinds of vegetables. The deaf who would be glad to have fresh vegetables below the market will do well to give them a call, or send a postal card what they want and it will be filled without delay.

One morning last week, Mr. Fred W. Stockisch thought the fishes were biting, so he started out before the sun was up. When the sun was down he was on his way home, with a little minnow to show his wife and children that he has not been anywhere else except at the fish pond.

Mrs. James Cloud expects to spend the hot days with her children Cloud, at Jacksonville, Ill., with Dan Cloud, or in New York near the ocean, with John Cloud. It is to be hoped that she will return to St. Louis well repaid for the trip.

Mr. Joseph Bretscher, after being on the idle list for some time, has at last found a good job in a bread bake shop.

Mr. Edward Miller is now working at the baseball park as a helper to the gang that does most of the work.

Mr. Charles Fry went to Flora, Ill., for a few days to bring his family stay single.

A Scholar's Advantage

A peddler tried to sell us a pair of sharkskin pants Monday. We didn't bite. We learned in school that sharks don't wear pants.—Buffalo, Kan., Blade.

SEATTLE

The Lutheran's annual picnic, June 22d, took place at Roosevelt Park, with sixty in attendance. Several games were played and prizes given to Mrs. N. C. Garrison, Mrs. G. W. Gaertner, Mrs. J. Adams, A. W. Lorenz, Malcolm McRae and Mrs. Robert Patterson and a few of the children. A very enjoyable time was had.

The Thursday socials at the Lutheran Hall, which most of the Seattle deaf enjoyed all winter, closed June 5th, with the first prize won by J. C. Howard. The booby prize was tied between Mrs. Jack Bertram and Mrs. A. W. Wright.

The Seattle ladies enjoyed the monthly luncheon at Mrs. W. S. Root's home June 12th. Mrs. John Adams won the first prize at bridge.

There were fifteen at Mrs. Claude Ziegler's apartment the night of the N. F. S. D. meeting. Bridge and "500" were played, and sandwiches, ice-cream, cake and coffee were served. A merry time passed.

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Reeves have purchased a ten-acre fruit ranch fifteen miles south of Yakima. Claire has gone there to sign contracts for their cherries and pears. There is a nice five-room house on it. Mrs. Reeves expects to go July 7th. We are sorry to lose them, as Mrs. Reeves has been the president of the Lutheran Ladies' Aid the past three years and Mr. Reeves, the president of the P. S. A. D. and the treasurer of the Lutheran men's conference.

While the Bertrams were in Portland over Decoration Day, Mr. Bertram golfed in the tournament, and his better half spent one night with Prof. and Mrs. Lindstrom in Salem. A very interesting part of her visit was about Little Muriel Lindstrom. She is seven years old, and in the third grade. She held Mrs. Bertram in a cute conversation by spelling all the time. In Vancouver the Bertrams topped with Prof. and Mrs. Divine for a few minutes' chat.

A. H. Koberstein returned home after two months' sojourn in California and Oregon. He gave an interesting talk about his visit in the south at the P. S. A. D. at the last meeting. He took a long auto ride with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Larson, out to Rodondo Beach to see Lawrence Belser, who appeared well and fleshly.

Miss Ethel Morton, one time of Seattle, was married to Mr. S. Himmelsheim June 2d, in a church in Berkeley, in the presence of their deaf friends. Their honeymoon trip was to Anacortes for two days' visit with the bridegroom's brother. When they stopped one night in Seattle they called on Mr. and Mrs. Bert Haire. The Reeves, receiving a phone call, drove over there for a chat till midnight.

The newly wedded couple's many friends wish them a happy, prosperous life. They have taken an apartment in Los Angeles, where Mr. Himmelsheim works as a telephone tester.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ziegler are the happy owners of a nice used Moon. Their young son, Herbert, has already learned how to drive it.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams took Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Waugh to Ellensburg for a fishing tour. They stopped over night at the Weavers. They hiked up in the mountains to Snow Lake to fish, only to find the lake still frozen over.

M. J. Clark was invited to a fine dinner at Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown's home one Sunday. Mr. Clark said it was the first home-cooked meal for a long time and it was the first chance he visited Ballard.

Mrs. Emily Eaton and Mrs. Wilkes were tendered a boat ride along Lake Washington up to Lake Union through the United States government locks to the sound. It was an all-day outing and the day chanced to be beautiful and Mrs. Eaton could not forget the pleasure of sailing.

Mrs. Claire Reeves is recovering from an operation she had for the growth in her nose and a bad case of enlarged tonsils. She was quite ill for a day.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bertram's house has been in the hands of a carpenter the past month. So many alterations have been done to the living and dining rooms and the kitchen, that won't know their home.

Mr. and Mrs. True Partridge visit the Oleschager brothers at Alderwood Manor frequently. Recently one of the boys, George, brought his sister and her husband, who were on their honeymoon from California, to the Partridge's home for a fine dinner.

Samuel Abrahamson is back from Los Angeles, after an absence since last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Whalen, of Los Angeles, are June honeymoon visitors to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lorenz, of Tacoma, spent the week-end with the Bodleys and attended the Lutheran picnic at Roosevelt Park.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Root and son, Milo, took a ride in the Wrights' car to Vashon Island, crossing over on the Fauntleroy ferry. Vashon Island is one of the largest among over a hundred in Puget Sound, being about fifteen miles long and three miles wide. There are some nice berry ranches and many summer resort homes of Seattle and Tacoma residents.

Milo Root is spending his vacation with his uncle and aunt in Bothell.

An Organization for the Welfare of All the Deaf

OFFICIAL

The Committee takes pleasure in advising that we have selected the Lehigh Valley Railroad as the official route to our convention in August, 1930.

We have arranged for a special train, consisting of coaches, parlor cars and diners to leave New York, Pennsylvania Station, at 8:50 A.M., Newark 9:24 A.M., on Sunday, August 3d.

The Lehigh Valley, offering the most picturesque combination of mountain, river and lake scenery east of the Rockies, is familiarly known as the "Switzerland of America Route."

The fare between New York and Buffalo is $14.29. As the reduced fare has been authorized for our convention, contingent upon 150 certificates being validated at the convention, the round trip fare will be $21.44. Parlor car seats are $3.00 each.

Tickets and information can readily be obtained by applying to Mr. S. W. Gafner, A. G. P. A. of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, 110 West 42d Street, New York City, or to the undersigned.

Deaf-Mute, Born Blind, Gets Sight at 13 by Operation

JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA, June 26th. (By International News Service).—Born blind, deaf and dumb and living more than thirteen years without anything more than a faint glimmering of outside ideas, Cornelius Ferreira has had his sight restored through a delicate operation in Cape Colony hospital.

Physicians skinned the lens of his eyes.

Specialists are now watching the boy gradually sensing the world through his eyes, and the consequent gradual transformation of his expression from one of absolute imbecility.

First Sunday, Holy Communion and

Paterson, N. Y.

At the strawberry festival that was held at St. Paul's Church annex building, given by the members of the church, Rev. Braddock gave three stories, which were very interesting. At a late hour they had good eats. Fifty-two people were present, including Rev. and Mrs. Braddock. Rev. Braddock was remembered with a beautiful fountain pen and pencil set. He was greatly pleased with them.

"Left ham sandwiches are better, because when a hog scratches his star-board, or right side, he does a Charleston with his right foot. That develops muscles. When he scratches his left flank, he does a gentle shimmy against a tree or post. Therefore, right hams are far more muscular and less tender than those from the left side of the same hog. There are two ways to prove this: One is to watch hogs on the hoof, the other is to test the tender, flavory LEFT HAM sandwiches served here."—From the menu of the Fontenelle Pharmacy, Omaha, Neb.
